A FINE COURSE OF LECTURES FOR THE WINTER.What the Liberal and Scientific Association is Doing—A Series of Bare Intellectual Entertainments.

Some months ago a party of progressive gentlemen of this city consulted together to decide to inaugurate a new intellectual agency in our midst. They saw the great and growing influence for good exerted in the community by the Young Men's library, and their object was to have a similar organization of such books, papers, etc., as would in a prominent way meet the literary association. They organized at once the LITERAL AND SCIENTIFIC ASSOCIATION, having for its objects discussions of the living topics of the day, the delivery of lectures, and the publication upon a popular interest and instructive character, and the accumulation of such books, papers, etc., as would in a prominent way meet the literary association.

The association, from the day of its organization, has had no numbers many of its members are students and scholars and may be deemed an essential part of the city's life.

The lectures and exercises already given in the course of the winter have been most successful to that degree that a regular course... the remaining months of the year has been arranged for the continuation of the course, which we have reason to believe will be popular. The association has organized to attract large audiences.

The fourth annual congress of the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States will be opened at Lancaster, Pa., on October 28, and will remain in session until the following Friday. Right Rev. Horatio Potter, Bishop of New York, will preside, and after the services of the day he will address the assembly.

Among the addresses to be delivered is one by Dr. H. C. Br. Eliot, of western Europe, on "The Church in Europe," which will be unusually important and interesting.

About this time look out for the minister who turns over his barrel, counts the pews, and asks you if you are a communicant, tells us his deacons, baptismal and confirmation. He runs over each gallery, and is sure to stop at every door. The B. P. Weekly takes one of the best evasions to task for boasting over two twelve thousand dollars in contributions to the "poor."

The association has purchased for demonstration in its lecture room.

Geology—Fossils, free.

Eccl. Soc., the V. C. Regent of the Nat'l Universal Univ.—Rev. Dr. Martin, fifty cents.

Astronomy—C. H. W. Froelich, free.

Literary—Prof. M. J. Fox, free.

Chemical—Dr. G. W. D. Sibley, fifty cents.

Geology—Prof. G. L. L. Fifty cents.

The above lectures will be presented as a series of twelve weekly entertainments, and the admission price will be twenty-five cents.

The names upon the list are those of genuine and highly capable speakers, and may be deemed an essential part of the city's life.

The lectures and exercises already given in the course of the winter have been most successful to that degree that a regular course...

The association has organized to attract large audiences.

The last meeting of the association Prof. W. A. Stewart, treasurer, and Col. J. A. Stewart, president.

The hall is in the Bell building, corner of Broad and Marietta streets, where the public are invited to attend every Tuesday evening.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Rev. A. J. Drysdale, of Mobile, is at the Skunk with his family.

President Atticus G. Haygood, of Emory college, is in the city. He reports that there are two new students in his college, and that the enrollment is now 100, while nearly all the old students have returned. Truly Emory is flourishing.

The many friends of that popular salesman, Mr. W. H. Howell, will be glad to know that he has determined to return again to dry goods, and will hope to be found at the office of Dr. Willis F. W. Moreland, in the practice of his profession. All the friends of Dr. Howell, who are interested in the welfare of his cause, will be pleased to meet his friends and customers.

Dr. Daniel Hook Howell, son of Judge Clarke Howell, of this country, is preparing to go to the medical school of a full grown suffrage, as well as selected physicians. He graduated from the Atlanta medical college with distinction at the age of 18, and is now in the practice of Dr. Willis F. W. Moreland, in the practice of his profession. All the friends of Dr. Howell, who are interested in the welfare of his cause, will be pleased to meet his friends and customers.

Mr. L. S. Brown, southern passenger agent of the Baltimore and Ohio and the Virginia Midland roads, who has had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Howell in his connection with the Virginia Midland road, will give his entire attention to the passenger business of the Baltimore and Ohio company. His office will be easier at Lynchburg, Va., and he will be in touch with all the agents of the B. & O. system, in various positions of trust credit.

ROUNDABOUT IN GEORGIA.

—Thomaston is having sociables.
—The luscious possum has matured.
—Mrs. Harriet Burns, of Jefferson, is dead.
—Miss Margaret Stark, of Jefferson, is dead.
—Leaden nickles seem to be circulating in Quito.
—The venerable Dr. Lovick Pierce is still able to travel and preach.
—Mr. John T. Chapman, of Twiggs county, is not dead, as was reported.

—Remarks of the Thomaston herald: "Give us Atlanta or Zebulon—liberty or death."

—Why doesn't somebody get up a calico wedding, and thus carry out Hayes' southern policy?

—The latest opinion of the sage remark of the poet is, "I'm saddest when I'm sick."

—The mocking birds are about to furl away their music boxes for the season.

—The gin-house of Mr. Robert M. Collier, of Pike county, was burned last Monday night by an incendiary.

—Quitman claims to be the best cotton market on the Atlantic and Gulf road.

—A colored man in Wilkinson county killed three wild turkeys at one shot the other day.

—Some of the best citizens of Wilkinson county are preparing to emigrate to the western cemetery.

—The farmer should remember that this is the season when he should well, it is useless to go into an elaborate argument on this subject here.

—The way things are going on now, there won't be many papers in the state in favor of Millidgeville by the time the election comes on.

—Hon. A. H. Stephens has educated more than sixty young men and boys. What a record for this great and good man to leave behind him!

—The dwelling house of Widow McGinnis, near Harmony Grove, was destroyed by fire recently. Nothing was saved.

—It is impossible to turn around now without finding a man with a cat-boil on him. Job may have had boils, but he never had any cat-boils like those that are raised in Atlanta.

—Did we state that the editor of the Hamilton Home Journal was married? However, it won't do any harm to say so again. He has been in the business seventeen days.

—The Macon cotton buyers are still on the strike, but a movement is on foot to adjust matters. It is stat'd that the Columbus cotton buyers have also struck.

—Here is a good one from Joe Carter, of the DeKalb News: "The Millidgeville O & Capital wants the capital on the ground of economy. We want all on the ground of the city hall in Atlanta."

—The DeKalb News says that Stone Mountain has over one hundred and seventy white children going to school within her borders. The colored school at this place is doing well also.

—LaGrange Reporter: If the people, by a majority vote, decide to locate the capital in Atlanta, the Macon Telegraph will acquiesce. This is well. We feared that the Telegraph would get desperate and rush off to Cuthbert (stopping thirty minutes at Smithville), or do something else rash.

—It is with feelings of sadness that we chronicle the death of Col. Charles D. Hammond, which occurred at his home, in Millard, Baker county, on the morning of the 22d inst., after a brief illness, i. e., typhoid fever. The deceased was about 65 years of age; he was born and raised in Millard, and moved to Baker in 1854. He was secretary of the state for eight years during the administrations of McDonald and Cobb, and served the state with credit and ability. He represented Baker county in the senate in 1858, and was a member of the convention of 1861. He was a son of Col. Hammond, Baker, one of her most valuable citizens, and his many friends throughout the state will mourn his departure with profound regret.

—Irwinton Southerner and Appeal: In the practical workings of Hayes's southern policy, is not considered very lovely, by our distillers especially. In the appointment of revenue officers for the section, a man bearing the stamp of the South, and who had been in Millidgeville, received the appointment of surveyor of stills for this section. Now, White is rather fair complicated for a negro, and in perambulating the country in his official capacity he has been loyalty entertained by several of our distillers, who thought he was a white man. Their pride of caste has been hurt, and they are all aghast. White's and Rum have been roundly cursed for the mistake. The only consolation they have is the number that have entertained him at bed and board.

—The same paper has this: Our readers will recollect the publication by us several months ago of the particulars of a negro, a native of Lawrence county, to violate the person of a married lady while she was sleeping by the side of her husband, and that the husband was thrown violently to the floor by the negro and badly injured when he attempted to get a weapon to shoot the black brute. This negro was apprehended in Lawerence county, where he remained upon a few days, etc. Seven nights ago a party of unknown men went to Dublin and aroused the jailor from his bed and demanded the jail keys. He refused to surrender them. They then took him in custody and sent him into his house to search for them. The negro, however, had no connection with that matter. I do not believe it will succeed, though I wish it could, in some practical way. Take Schurz, for instance; he is making a business of civil service reform. But he is a hambone, and Mr. Hayes will find him before long. It is a fact that the negro had to stand to satisfy the country. It is very well to say that the business of office seeking shall be abolished, but the office seeker cannot easily be abolished, and the more the theorists quarrel among themselves the further practical civil service reform seems to proceed.

—THE SOUTHERN GHOST.

In regard to the dissolution of republican state organizations in the south, General Grant has this to say: "That is one of the usual violent effects of wise government, after a scene of turmoil like we had last fall. For myself, I do not care for party. You can always depend upon the good sense of the people of the United States. They believe in the republic. Their flag is to the fore, with strong arms behind it, and it will stand. I am a man of iron, and brave. They will never elect a high official except upon a common sense basis. For that reason I believe the republic in and democratic party of late being so evenly divided—that the people will be compelled to vote in large majority for the republican candidate. The more the party can be, because the democrats will do something that will drive the thinking people from their ranks at the last object aimed at is a noble one, and I hope it will succeed." In answer to a suggestion that many republicans feared that Hayes's course would destroy the party, Grant said: "Never fear. I have always of late years, had an abiding faith in the success of the republic party at each election, not so much because it is always the strongest, but it is always the best." He added: "At the last meeting the democrats do some foolish thing and give a victory to the republicans. Now, mark my words. We will have."

A REPUBLICAN PRESIDENT IN 1880, because the democracy cannot resist its general disposition to kick over the milk-pail after it is filled. I told Judge Niblick, of Indiana, so just before the last election, and he smilingly admitted the truth what I said."

A REMINISCENCE REFERRED to the removal of the late J. Lathrop Motley, minister in England, who was appointed at the solicitation of Senator Sumner shortly before the senator made his violent speech against the Alabama and Georgia Slave Codes.

"Mr. Motley had to be instructed. The instructions were made very carefully, and after Governor Fish and I had gone over them for the last time I wrote an addendum charging him that above all things he should handle the subject of the Alabama claims with the greatest delicacy. I told him that he must be very explicit in his instructions, deliberately fill in line with Mr. Sumner, and thus adduce insult to the precious injury. As soon as I heard of it I went over to the state department and told Governor Fish to dismiss Motley at once. I was very angry indeed, and I have been sorry in my mind since that he did not do his best for the country, and has the freshest and most recherche fashion, beautifully illustrated, its criticisms, sketches, stories and news paragraphs give evidence of able editorial skill. The ladies are ik love with it."

SACREMENTO (Cal.) Times: During the progress of the Liberia movement last Saturday, one of the workers in the cause got an old darkey who did not take kindly to the movement off to one side and began describing the great benefits the negro would enjoy by uniting with the movement. Another told him that the negro did not work; to which the negro had provided every excuse for his non-compliance. It was the high commission and the Geneva award I supposed Mr. Motley would be mainly engaged to resign after that snub, but he kept on until he was removed. Mr. Sumner promised me that he would vote for the treaty. But when it was first read before the senate did all he could to beat it."

SLANDERING THE DEAD.

General Grant, then related the following: "The first time I ever saw George William Curtis he called upon me to request on behalf of a number of influential Republicans the reinstatement of Mr. Sumner as chairman of the committee on foreign affairs. I told him that if I should go to the senate and dictate the organization of the committee I would be the fellow who made a name by minding his own business.

moment. The modern democracy always does it. It has made me smile frequently as I have thought of it; but there is some fatality at work in the premises."

—No one can develop the grace of mirthiness by listening to a crying baby. S. on its freshness by curing the cold with Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. Price 25 cents.

—Willis is to Galveston News: On Saturday, the 15th inst., a convict was executed in the stocks by the convict court at this place by Sergeant Swanson. His cries for mercy, "Take me down," "I am dying," were not heard. He was taken from the stocks and laid on the floor of the car dead. The coroner's verdict is that he died from strangulation and exhaustion. An examination ensued, which resulted in the court placing his remains under $2,500 bond.

Book and Journal, wit' information worth thousands, mailed free. Address PALVERMACHER, GALVANIC COMPANY, Cincinnati, Ohio.

—Memphis appeal: Sunday the lifeless bodies of two unknown white men were found in the Mississippi river at Thos'as landing, thirty miles above the city. On the bodies had holes in the left side, doubtless made by a buck shot. Justice Harrison, a lawyer, inquested the bodies and the jury returned a verdict of "death from unknown cause." The bodies were found within 40 yards of each other.

—It was not long, since, New York, in all its pestilential cantankerousness, was the cockpit authority in the land.

Now the West is fast emancipating itself from this thralldom. We might give as example the fine art exhibitions, the great Western newspapers, the scholarly books published in what twenty years ago was rude and half-tamed society; but there's no need of going further than "Andrews' Bay," or "Cottonwood," etc. It's the real fashion, and famous, throughout the country, and has the freshest and most recherche fashion, beautifully illustrated, its criticisms, sketches, stories and news paragraphs give evidence of able editorial skill.
